

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A protective implement comprises a protective tool formed with a steel wire; and a receipt object formed in a shape of a sheath, capable of carrying and storing the protective tool into a space thereinto so as to wrap, having a drawing-out part, provided at a surface of the receipt object, which can reduce the frictional resistance when the protective tool is pulled out so that it can always carry without special consideration and the public notice and it can attain the self-defense purpose in an instant in an emergency.